

The IPM SIPP: Investment flexibility

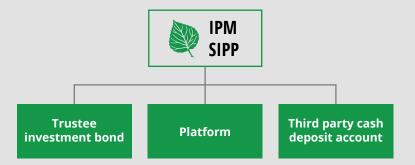

Everything should be made as simple as possible, but not simpler.

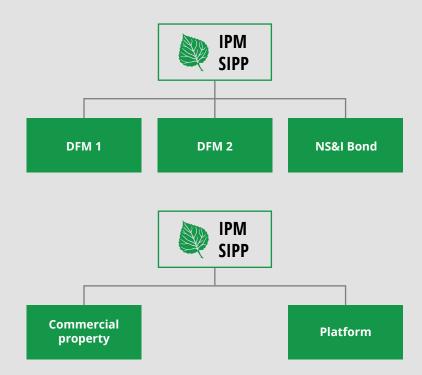

Albert Einstein

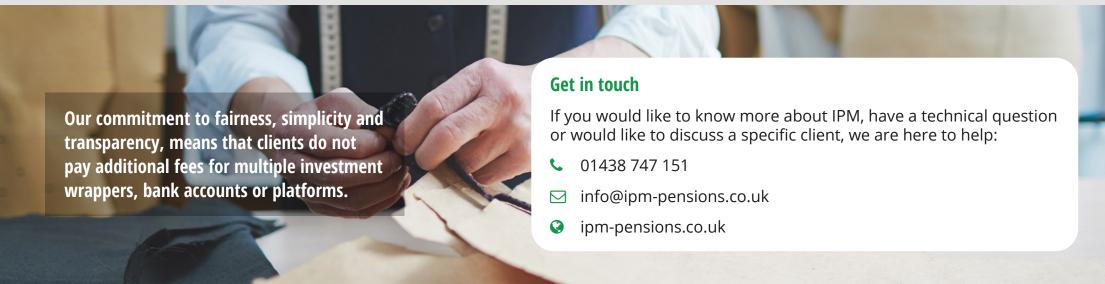

Pension Freedoms, and an increasing number of people transferring away from Defined Benefit schemes, mean it's never been more important for your clients to have complete investment flexibility.

That's why we don't work from panels. Instead, we give you and your clients complete control to choose the investments and partners which are right for them. We often see advisers recommend a wide range of assets to meet their client's short, medium and long-term goals. The following three examples show a range of what typical IPM SIPP might include.

I.P.M. SIPP Administration Limited (IPM) is regulated by the FCA under approval number 464270 for the establishment and operation of a self-invested personal pension scheme called the IPM Personal Pension Scheme. This approval does not extend to the provision of financial advice in any way. IPM is able to provide technical and factual support to its introducers and members. The information in this document is based on IPM's understanding of the legislation at the time of writing and should not be received as advice. IPM always recommends that independent financial advice is sought before undertaking any financial commitment.
